AMUSEMENTS.

Amateur Performance at the French Theatre.
A very large and brilliant audience gathered at this house last evening to witness the performance of the Pet Philo-Musical Association. The programme comprised Sterling Coyne's sparkling comedy, Everybody's Friend, and the musical farce, The Loan of a Lover, both pieces being interpreted solely by non-professionals. We have frequently adverted to the excellence of many private dramatic representations, and the success which greeted last evening's performance of the French artists was not, therefore, wholly unexpected. The comedy was most ably played by Misses Estelle Bonnet, Josephine Dibley, Sophie Robinson and Emily Robinson. The musical farce was played by Messrs. Phillips and Hill and Miss Estelle Robinson being especially good. The Loan of a Lover was played by Miss Annie Brown and Miss Dibley and Messrs. Walker, Howard, Hall and Phillips. All the amateurs were cordially applauded.

Notwithstanding the mediocrity of the music of the Enchantress, the costly and splendid style in which it is put on the stage at the Olympic was quite sufficient to attract a crowded house last night. The place affords many opportunities for scenic effect and display which are fully availed of. Miss Richings filled the leading role admirably, and the few novices in the opera were well sung.

Mr. Morgan's first organ matinee at St. Andrew's Hall took place yesterday, and gave promise of success for the rest of the series. House terms and variations in A. B. Morgan's organ music in F. D. Morgan's organ music, and a potpourri, by Morgan, were the organ selections, and were played in the best style of the distinguished organist. These matinees will be continued weekly.

Mr. D. Kennedy's audience at Irving Hall last night was somewhat smaller on account of the weather; but those that attended were rapidly won by the charming selection of Scottish ballads sung by him. The feeling and expression which he communicates to those beautiful songs of his native land, always gain him admirers and render his concert a success.

Mr. Hartz, the Harlequinist.
Dedworth Hall, or rather its elevated position, seems to lose none of its attractive power; for the next room in which Mr. Hartz nightly carries on his mysterious performances is slightly covered by fashionable and delighted audiences. The programme this week includes the Floating Head, the great basket trick, as well as a selection of clever sleight-of-hand tricks.

Tony Pastor's Opera House.
Crowded and enthusiastic audiences attend the unabated popularity of this favorite place of amusement. Tony is, of course, still the star of the company, and is only permitted to subside after half a dozen encores. Dave Hawley, the young American gymnast, in his daring and startling acrobatic performance, incites the most intense excitement. An Italian opera, a new drama, containing some extremely striking and picturesque tableaux, closes the entertainment.

White's Combination Troupe.
A programme so replete with comic song, delineations, character and ball dancing, pantomime and the drama, as the one presented here last night cannot fail to be highly appreciated by the frequenters of this cozy little theatre; and consequently the applause of the crowded audiences who frequent this temple of amusement is enthusiastic and frequent. The great attraction of the troupe is a comic song, and a funny comedy, to provoke laughter even from "the melancholy Dane."

THE COUNTY TAX LEVY.
The Senate Committee on Municipal Affairs reported a bill to-day to raise the expenses of the New York county government. The only important amendment, beyond those already mentioned in connection with the representations of the Citizens' Association, is one to appropriate $100,000 for a building for the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections.

REPRESENTATION AGAINST DANGEROUS BOILERS.
Senator Pierson introduced a bill to-day providing that all owners of steam boilers in the Metropolitan district shall annually report to the Board the location of the same, whose duty it shall be to have the same examined and boilers inspected and tested by hydraulic pressure, and every boiler so tested shall have, under the control of the Metropolitan Sanitary Company, such attachments as may be necessary for the purpose of pressure, locked and secured in like manner as now in practice used by the United States Inspectors of steam boilers. They shall have the pressure of steam to be applied upon any single boiler, certifying such limit of pressure to the owners. In limiting the amount of pressure which may be applied to the boiler, the same shall be limited by the owner, and shall be the only certificate.

No owner or agent of any steam boiler shall employ any person as engineer, without first having a certificate as to qualification from practical engineers, countersigned by the Police Commissioners. Any person applying to any boiler, or to any person in charge of a boiler, who shall be found guilty of a misdemeanor, and when any owner of a boiler shall fail to have the same reported for inspection as provided by the bill, such boiler may be taken under the control of the Board and all persons prevented from using the same until it can be satisfactorily tested as provided for, the owner thereof to be at the expense of the test.

of New York, and that the delegates claiming seats under that organization have been regularly enrolled as delegates to the Convention. (Applause and cheers.)

An attempt was then made to cut off debate by moving the previous question.

Mr. JAMES V. L. TRACY, amid some disorder, attempted to speak, but was called to order. The Chairman decided in his favor, and the speaker then withdrew. He said that, while he respected the history and character of the Tammany people, and would regard their rights, he would not allow it to be said that he was in favor of these delegates to this Convention. (Applause.)

Resolved, That in view of the special object for which this convention is assembled, and without prejudice to the rights of former Conventions on the question of the regularity of the organization of the democratic party in New York, that the two delegations in this city who have now presented themselves to the Convention, be seated in the Convention hall, and that the Convention be opened by the reading of the Declaration of Independence.

Considerable debate ensued on these resolutions. The subject was laid on the table, when a resolution to adopt the rules of the Assembly for the Convention was adopted. The previous question was then carried, and all amendments were voted down, the Tammany organization being maintained as the only regular delegation of New York city.

The roll of the Tammany delegates was then called, and the names of the delegates were read. The names of the delegates were read, and the names of the delegates were read.
